Filling Out and Signing ENTRIES When a minor is Involved...

There have been some questions from exhibitors and officials about who should sign in certain areas on the entry blank when a minor is involved. Below are some guidelines to follow...

1. A parent or guardian (agent, trainer, etc.) must sign in the "Parent/Guardian" section on the entry blank.

2. If a minor has a trainer other than the parent, the trainer must sign the trainer section and if the trainer has consent from the parent; can also sign the "Parent/Guardian" section of the entry blank.

3. If the minor is the trainer of the horse, then the name of the minor must be included in the "print trainer name" section; however, the parent must sign the "Trainer" signature line on behalf of the minor including (parent) beside their signature. Since the minor is considered the trainer (but just can't legally sign) the parent signing the "Trainer" line does not have to be a member

EFFECTIVE 12/1/08....NO MORE USEF/USHJA AFFIDAVIT FORMS!

Effective December 1, 2008, the rule regarding affidavits will be changed to require that if members do not have the proper USEF or USHJA (Competing) membership documents and the show does not have the ability or opportunity to verify the membership information, the exhibitor will be assessed a $30 (or $60 if both USEF and USHJA) non-refundable nonmember fee. This change does not affect any breed affidavit form that may be applicable to the Affiliate memberships and/or registration paperwork. The non-member amateur card fee and signature line will be moved back to the membership application, so please make sure if you have any non-members who want to show in amateur classes, they will need to fill out the section on the membership application and pay the one-time/year $30 non-member amateur card fee, in addition to the $30 (or $60 if both USEF and USHJA) non-member fee. Please also note that foreign riders must pay the $30 nonmember amateur card fee if they want to show in amateur classes. Exception: Members of Equine Canada must sign the non-member amateur card section but do not have to pay the $30 fee.

AHA Single Events

Each owner, rider, driver, handler, trainer and coach at an AHA Recognized Show must have an AHA membership with a competition card, a Life Membership, or a Business Membership or pay the $30 SEM fee per person.
